

A SUNDAY SERMON

(By Rev. G. C. Greenway, Pastor of the Baptist Church of this City.)

What is the Church Worth to Me?
"Christ also loved the church and gave himself for it."—Eph. 5:25.

Introduction—The hope of the world has been in every generation, and is today, in the church. The greatest need of the church today is men, and the greatest need of men is the church.

There are too few people who attach any real importance to the church. This no doubt is because so few have given the matter any consideration. What value has it been to you? Would it have made any difference if you had been born in China or Japan rather than in America? Would it make any difference if you had never heard of the church?

If we trace the history and influence of the church upon the past and present I do not think we shall be able to find a movement which has been of such tremendous value and importance to the world. I challenge the world to show me an institution which has had such an abiding and helpful influence upon the world and morals of men. Its leader taught both by precept and example the highest form of morals.

It has really made a marvelous growth in the face of the stern opposition which it has encountered through the centuries. There were probably not more than 500,000 Christians at the end of the first century. At the end of the second there were 2,000,000; the third, 5,000,000; the fourth, 10,000,000; the 10th, 50,000,000; the 15th, 100,000,000, and today there are probably more than 500,000,000.

Perhaps it has not meant a great deal to a great many people, because they have not put anything in it; that is, of time, service, substance and self. A thing is valued largely in proportion to what we put into it. This is true of business or of intellectual attainments and is also true of the church. As we give of ourselves in service and sacrifice we will value it. Your church will mean little more than you make it mean to others.

I think the church is of value because it helps one to discover God. I judge that a large percent of the religious influence which is exerted upon our lives in the home came through the church; and this home influence has been one of the largest factors in helping us to discover God.

There are other things of importance but nothing more important for man to discover than the fact that God is, and that we are His creatures, and that He is creator of all. We are prone to go on in the world forgetting the fact that God made us and gave His Son for us; forgetting that we are under His laws, and that we cannot ignore them and receive His highest blessings. We could not expect that He would create us as the rulers of this world without being subject to His laws.

Thus the church helps me to discover that I have transgressed many of His laws and also discover that it is impossible to live up to the letter of the law and merit salvation, but that Christ died for us.

Then it is of value to us because it reveals something of the future. The church teaches us that there is a better life for those who love the Lord. When we talk of the future there are not many of us who have very much to say outside of what the Bible has said. In fact, I do not know of any other book which has told us so much about the future as the Bible. So, the church teaches us that this life is not all. How easy it is for us to forget this, because we are so happily surrounded with the material things of life. We are taught that the present enjoyments are but for a moment and cannot be compared with the future happiness of the children of God.

Paul says "look not upon the things which are seen but upon things which are not seen for the things which are seen are temporal but things which are not seen are eternal." "If in this life only we have hope, we are of all men most miserable."

Jesus says, "In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go to prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself, that where I am there ye may be also." It is of untold value to mankind to have a hope like this established in their hearts.

Again the church is of value because it seeks to build up the moral powers of the community.

Would it make any difference if there were no churches in the community? Would the moral tone of the community be different? If we were to stop the mouths of the preachers and close the doors of our churches would we not do away with one of the valuable assets to our community? I think our churches are vitally related to the business of the community. It enhances the value of property. To remove the churches would mean that your property would be worth less. Statistics show that the church is the greatest factor in worldly success, both of men and nations.

The success of communities and nations depends on certain fundamentals—integrity, faith, industry, brotherly kindness and interest in the souls of men.

But to what do we owe these fundamental qualities? Statistics show we owe them to the religion of Christ. Religious conditions are vitally related to business success and national progress. The state of religion forms a good barometer of business conditions. Every panic has been foreshadowed by a decline in religious principles.

We are told that 80 per cent of building permits in cities are taken out by church people. 70 per cent of the bank accounts held by church people and 70 per cent of the good books written by them.

You may feel well off and contented if you have a few mortgages, stocks and bonds in the safety vault; and the bank official may show you the steel vault and the great iron gate, but all this is not a guarantee of its security—you are dependent after all upon the integrity of the people. The development of America is largely due to the teachings of the church. The question has been asked why South America is so backward as compared with North America. The answer given is, that the people who discovered South America came in search of gold, while those who came to North America came in search of God. Let us not kick down the ladder by which we have climbed.

If our church is of any value to us then let us support it with our manhood and money as an institution worthy of our best. If Jesus thought enough of the church to give His own life for it, surely we who have access to all its benefits and blessings should honor it more often with our presence, more largely with our purses and more earnestly with our prayers.

Women's Work for Show Progressing

Committees in charge of the Home Economics Exhibits for the Live Stock and Product Show, to be held Oct. 20 and 21, are progressing nicely in their arrangements to make the women's work a great success.

Practically every community in the county has been reached and the women have been told about the fair and given an idea of the products which will be wanted.

In Farmington, the town has been divided into the four wards, the same as last year, each ward having the same rating as a country community. No prizes will be given, but first and second ribbons will be awarded. Blue ribbons will count twice as much as the red in counting points for the community. Each individual is urged to bring in her things for the community standing depends upon what each person does.

The silver loving cup which was won by the Oak Grove community last year, will be given to the community which wins the most points. Since points are counted only on first and second placings, it can be seen that it is quality as well as quantity that counts.

Home Economics work this year will be on display in the Masonic Temple. The exhibits must be in place by 9:30 a. m., Friday, October 20, in order that they may be judged and arranged early in the day.

Any questions may be referred to Mrs. C. B. Denman, Farmington, Mo., R. F. D. No. 1, phone No. 785-3; or to Miss Elvora Baker, at the Farm Bureau office, phone No. 445.

STOCK AND AGRICULTURAL SHOW IN FARMINGTON

Two big days are expected in Farmington Friday and Saturday, Oct. 20 and 21. On these days the St. Francois County Agricultural and Livestock Show will be held. The Farm Bureau and the Farmington Chamber of Commerce are co-operating to make this show even better than the old held last year—which was a successful one.

Elaborate plans have been made to make these days full of interest to all who attend. Large entries of livestock, agriculture, poultry, and home economics exhibits are expected. A band will be on the grounds both days and Friday night, to furnish music. An automobile parade will be divided into advertising floats and private cars. Prizes will be given for the winners. At 4 p. m. Friday there will be a foot ball game between the Farmington and Flat River High School teams. On Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, a football game will be played by the American Legion of Farmington with another team, to be secured.

There will be a band concert Friday night from 7 to 9. Community singing and a masked carnival by the high school students will feature Friday night's program.

A balloon from Scott Field is expected. At 3 p. m. Saturday, a parade of livestock will be held around the square.

Elaborate Plans for the Big Show

The second annual show of Farm Crops, Livestock, Home Economics and Poultry, at Farmington, October 20 and 21, promises to be a big affair. Farmers from various sections of the county for twenty miles around, are planning on exhibiting their products. A wonderful opportunity is provided breeders of purebred livestock to advertise their animals. Many instances of improvements in field crops, poultry and livestock can be traced to the show held last year. Yet the good derived from advertising their products cannot be measured in one year's time.

Also, it is the purpose of the organizations working to make the show a success, to provide plenty of amusements for the large crowd expected. This amusement will consist of band concerts both days and Friday night, a masked carnival Friday night, football games both days, an automobile parade and a parade of livestock. The large poultry and agricultural exhibits will be on display in a tent just south of the government lot on East Columbia street. The home economics exhibits will be in the Masonic Temple and the livestock will be located at the Swink, Mayberry, Byington & Tullock, and County barns. The judging of the livestock will take place between the City Drug Store and Rickus Cash Grocery. Rest rooms will be provided for the women and seats will be furnished on the court house lawn. Seats will also be provided for those people wishing to see the judging of livestock.

Following is a list of the committees whose co-operation has made the show possible:

Prospects for An Interesting Game

An aggregation of ball players from this vicinity has been gotten together for a game next Sunday afternoon with the Crystal City team, which ranks as the champion team of this part of Missouri for the present season. The local gathering is known as Tim McCabe's All Stars, and that is indeed what many of them are.

This promises to be one of the best games that has been played in St. Francois county during the entire season, and if Crystal City wins then that team will be entitled to her well earned laurels of being the finest aggregation of ball players that have been assembled in Southeast Missouri this season. But they will have to "go some" if they win. There will doubtless be a great gathering of ball fans to witness this contest. Play will begin promptly at 2:30 p. m.

Marvin College Vs. American Legion

What promises to be a most interesting game of foot ball is scheduled to be played this afternoon at 3:30, on the High School field in this city. The contestants will be the Marvin College team of Fredericktown and the American Legion of the Walter LePere Post 416 of this city. The visitors will come with the reputation of being a strong team, and it is known that they have an excellent coach, and the indications are that they will give a good account of themselves.

The American Legion squad played their first game of the season Saturday afternoon at Flat River, against an aggregation of old time stars of that place. It proved to be a well matched game, and neither team succeeded in scoring. The American Legion team of Farmington is composed of the following players, all of whom have participated in many hotly contested games: Philip Cole, Lionel Tetley, John Davis, Wilbur Akers, Pete Seizer, Otis Wherley, Eugene Mitchell, Lovell Turley, Myers Mayberry, Ella Simms, Roy Dobbins, Dodson Ridgeway, Elliott Klein and Eddie Wichmann.

Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Dillard returned the first of the week from a visit with friends in Cape Girardeau.

The Times is gratified to announce that Mrs. C. P. Thozmorton, who has been dangerously ill with double pneumonia, is now improving and is apparently on the way to permanent recovery.

W. S. Miller went to St. Louis Wednesday for a week's visit with relatives.

Phony Mail Service Here

For some time past this has been practically without any mail service. Especially since the first of the present month, when the schedule of the electric railway was changed, apparently so as to accommodate no one, has the mail service (?) been abominable indeed. Before that time the mail which was supposed to reach here about 7 o'clock in the morning, could be expected with a reasonable degree of certainty sometime before noon. Now most patrons of the post-office consider themselves fortunate if they get their mail any time during the entire day for which it is supposed to have a morning schedule.

The postal department recently authorized Postmaster Smith to call for bids for carrying the morning mail from Bismarck to this city, which would perhaps materially improve the present condition. But such bids are perhaps not yet in. Then there will be another delay caused by the forwarding of the bids and awarding of the contract. Why could not Postmaster Smith have been authorized to have placed a temporary contract for the carrying of such mail until a permanent contract could have been arranged for such work? Were those in charge of such matters fearful that they would be "strong-armed" for a few extra dollars by such an arrangement, and therefore preferred that the mail to Farmington be thus delayed and "shot to pieces"? It seems that such is the case, notwithstanding the fact that this city has "free delivery" of mail, with nothing to deliver at any special time.

It seems that the mail service, at least in Farmington, is moving rapidly backward—even more rapidly than any other department of government that concerns this community. A far better way to handle the mail to this point, than that now in vogue, would be by express.

Why Permit Such a Thing?

The writer talked with a gentleman the past week who had just arrived from St. Louis, and he was somewhat wrought up over the manner in which he had arrived in this city. He had purchased a through ticket from St. Louis to Farmington, after having made inquiries if such ticket would entitle him to continuous passage to his destination, which he was assured it would. He even inquired at the information bureau, if the electric car would meet him at Flat River, and was there assured that it would.

When he reached Flat River there was no electric car to meet him, nor did any arrive. He there found out that the electric car was no longer meeting that train. He was therefore compelled to take a bus to this city, leaving most of his baggage behind. He still had in his pocket the Farmington end of his railroad ticket, which was supposed to guarantee him passage from Flat River to this city. Did he not have a right to be sore, and to be talking about suing for damages? It seems absolutely inexplicable why the ticket sellers in Union Station, St. Louis, as well as the information department at the same place should not have information about the discontinuance of the old schedule on the electric line into Farmington. The fact that the aforesaid gentleman was sold a ticket to this city, when there was no trains by which he could make a continuous trip to his destination, would apparently entitle him to damages.

Esther Young Man Killed

Sam Larkins, of Esther, was killed Monday morning at 10:45, while at work on a Southern railway train. He was riding on the front of the engine and jumped off to throw a switch, and it is supposed that his foot slipped and he fell under the engine.

His body was badly mangled and death was evidently instantaneous. He was head brakeman and had been switching only about eleven days. The young man was 21 years of age and the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Larkins, of Esther. We extend sympathy to the bereaved family.

Tag Day Went Over the Top

The first appeal to the general public by the Orphanage at Farmington for financial assistance was very, very generously met. The liberal and unselfish spirit manifested by almost everyone who was solicited to buy a tag indicates that the great work of this institution is highly valued and appreciated. As stated in the county papers, the public was brought to a realization of the fact that this charitable institution was a great asset, not from a viewpoint of dollars and cents, but is engaged in rearing, educating and making Christian men and women of tomorrow's citizens.

The ladies of the Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church of Farmington, under whose direction and management the drive was put on, as well as the management of the Orphanage, take this opportunity of expressing their deep appreciation to all who so liberally gave of their means, to the newspapers who gave of their space and printing so unstintingly done, the moving picture shows who gratuitously put notices on the screens, those who made the artistic window posters, especially the Gem Studio at Farmington, the individual workers on the streets and to each and every one who in any way contributed to the success of the drive. An old saying "that it takes money to make money" will not hold good when it comes to soliciting funds for so charitable an object as this, for the total cash expense of this wonderful work totaled only about $4.

The goal set for this drive was fixed at $2500, and from the following report by Mrs. Frank Weber, County Chairman of the drive, it will be seen that it was almost reached. There are several small localities yet to hear from, which, no doubt, will increase the total amount to the $2500.

Following are the localities with the names of the local chairman and the amounts collected:

Flat River, Mrs. H. H. Moore, $201.35
Desloge, Mrs. Steinmeach, 233.00
St. Francois, Mrs. Dresser, 50.72
Esther, Mrs. A. M. Hoy, 15.90
Rivermines, Mrs. F. L. Keith, 173.00
Elvins, Mrs. Carr Hartshorn, 174.28
Federal, Mrs. O'Keefe, 175.72
Bonne Terre, Mrs. Felix Thomsen, 459.00
Bismarck, Mrs. J. C. Kness, 52.00
Doe Run, Miss Sue Antoine, 30.00
DeLassus, Mrs. Oscar Chalk, 4.87
Farmington, Mrs. Lee Roy Johnson, 872.29

$2,441.23

Cast your bread upon the waters and it will return an hundred fold. May all who contributed to this charitable enterprise be rewarded by the Giver of all gifts in the world to come.

Gratefully yours,
THE WOMEN'S AUXILIARY,
Presbyterian Church,
By Mrs. R. P. Taylor, President.

Geo. Noltkemper's Suitcase Found

The finding of a suitcase by Ed. Williams last Saturday, in some woods on his farm, about two miles north of Farmington, containing clothing and numerous other articles that have been identified as having belonged to George Noltkemper, has created considerable uneasiness among Mr. Noltkemper's relatives and friends in this community.

Friends have recalled that some time in August they saw George Noltkemper on the electric car, apparently coming to this city from Flat River. In response to inquiries George had said that he was going to the home of his brother, Harry, for awhile, as his doctor had advised him to go to the country. He had been working in St. Louis. The suitcase, which had apparently been out in the weather for some time, was not far from the home of his brother, Harry Noltkemper.

About the time he is reported to have been seen on his way to this city, the body of an unidentified man was found near Ste. Genevieve. Just how he could have gotten into that locality is not known, but his relatives are now making inquiries into the finding of that unidentified body, thinking possibly it may prove to be his remains.

DEDICATION OF CATHOLIC CHURCH IN DESLOGE

A very interesting and impressive ceremony was that of the dedication of the Immaculate Conception Church at Desloge, on Sunday, Oct. 8th, by Archbishop Glennon, of St. Louis, assisted by Fr. Kelly of Farmington, Fr. Moser and Fr. Newman of Desloge and Fr. Cunningham of Desloge. The high mass that followed the dedication ceremony was indeed edifying. The music was of the very best, consisting of a violin, cornet, organ and also the splendid choir. The vocal solos were especially beautiful. On entering the church the large crowd that assembled were not only thrilled by the beauty of the interior but every one must have been filled with admiration and respect for the minister who had accomplished such success despite the obstacles that has confronted him. The rebuilding of the church and rectory has been no little task and it was through perseverance and a determined spirit of Fr. Cunningham and the noble band of workers that achievement has been attained.

Let us hope that in the future Fr. Cunningham will receive the undivided co-operation and support of his parish, which he so highly deserves.
